ISABEL, HAROLD, JR., HAROLD ASHBY, SR.

We interview. Harold Ashby

The handsome, slender, honor student of the Allentown N. J. High School graduating class, stepped forward to receive his diploma. Equally as great as the pride that surged in the breast of the kindly mother, were the strong fires of determination that filtered through the tear filled eyes, as she quietly intoned to herself—"On to college, on to college, on to college he must go."

Thus, was the course chartered for young Harold Ashby. His appointment by Governor Robert Meyner as chairman of the N. J. Parole Board, $12,000.00 per annum, is a milestone of national significance; first member of his Race to serve in this capacity.

Attendance at Trenton State Teachers College, New York and Atlanta Universities, B.S. and LL.B. degrees from Rutgers University with honors, are indicative of his spartan dedication to preparedness.

Isabel.

Adding impetus to his rapid development was the apprenticeship served under two of the most astute authorities of jurisprudence, Judges C. Thomas Schettino and Milton Conford of the Superior Court of New Jersey. This formative period left an exceedingly advantageous impact on the young future barrister, as he was exposed not only to some of the best legal minds but was often right in the middle of the intricate legal machinery of the Appellate Division.

The association with the law firm of Abrams, McWilson and Ashby was followed by appointment to the Attorney General's office. It was here that he was tapped for his present position. With roots deep in the American heritage, Ashby's grandfather fought with the Union army in the Civil War, he impresses with a modest but pleasantly restrained dignity. The ability to create harmony among diverse groups is his forte. Not the lesser of his assets is the humble gratitude he feels towards his mother and his wife, the former Isabelle Turner of Trenton—"whose sacrifice was the greater, as a great deal of my study for the law was done in the evenings after a full working day."

The parole board which he chairs is the final link in advising the Governor on matters of executive clemency. Through the years his office hours have always spilled over into work at home from the bulging brief case he carries. Although he likes all sports, particularly baseball, his most cherished hobby is having an occasional evening free with his charming wife, Isabelle and his son, Harold, Jr. He is a member of St. James A.M.E. Church, Newark. His organizations include the Essex County Bar Association, N. J. Bar Association, Executive Board Newark NAACP, Phi Alpha Delta Legal Fraternity, Robert Treat Council Boy Scouts and PTA.

We feel that Governor Meyner has exercised good judgment in the selection of Harold Ashby as chairman of the N. J. Parole Board.

ALL-AMERICA

Although these are not football players, we believe they are All Americans. They have made valuable contributions to the world of sports. Willie Mays, Hank Aaron are among the leading batters in the National League. Ernie Banks leads in home runs in the same league. Althea Gibson has reached the pinnacle in the tennis world. Floyd Patterson and Archie Moore are champions of the world, in the light and heavy weight divisions respectively. So we feel the fears of some of the southerners are unwarranted. With more opportunities and encouragement there could be larger numbers of colored athletes bringing credit to sports and glory to the States who at the moment seem to be hostile toward them.
